And then it came into the house. (1)
The children prayed to the god of heaven. (2)
When they reached heaven, the god said to them, (3)
Her brother said, "You should make a strong light." (4)

One day, when the woman was out in the garden, a tiger attacked and ate her. (1)
It could climb the fastest of all the tigers in the country. (2)
The girl said, "I don't like to go out when it is dark." (3)
She was too shy. (4)

So they climbed up a tall tree. (1)
But the tiger could climb very fast. (2)
They became the sun and the moon. (3)
The girl was glad for a while. (4)

Once upon a time there lived a woman in a small village. She had one son and one daughter. (1)
A rope came down from heaven. (2)
A day and a night passed. (3)
Now you can look at the moon as long as you like, but you can not look at the sun. (4)

They ran and ran, but the tiger ran faster than the children. (1)
The boy and the girl went up into heaven. (2)
"You, poor boy, become the sun. And you, poor girl, become the moon." (3)
The girl made a strong light, and then everybody stopped looking up at her. (4)

The two children ran away. (1)
"Oh, god, please throw down a rope to us." (2)
So her brother became the moon, and she became the sun. (3)
But everybody on the earth looked up at her, and she did not like that. (4)
